The Proposal: Mattie and George were friends for several years before they even began dating. One evening, George made Mattie her favorite homemade dinner - chicken and dumplings. As they ate, he showed her a film he had created that showed all the places across Alabama and Tennessee that held special memories for them such as their first date and even their first kiss. Afterwards, George asked Mattie to be his wife. They look forward to reliving the memories on George's film every year for their anniversary.

The Proposal: Sara Claire and Matthew met in their 7th grade English class and remained friends until they finally went on a few dates their senior year. They parted ways and went to rival colleges for their freshman year until Sara Claire decided to transfer to Matthew's alma mater, The University of Alabama. They dated throughout college until Matthew was ready to ask for Sara Claire's hand in marriage in May 2012. He proposed at Lake Martin, a place where they shared many memories together.
